MICHIGAN SELF-INSURERS'
ASSOCIATION

Putting your workers compensation worries at ease

www.michselfinsurers.org

The Michigan Self-Insurers' Association (MSIA) is a non-profit organization, originally organized in 1952. We are exclusively dedicated to educating employers on workers' compensation issues and perpetuation of sound and conservative self-insurance for workers' compensation.

We work hard to keep our members informed of current workers' compensation events, including information regarding legislative and judicial actions that affect self-insured employers. We freely exchange information with the goal of reducing and ultimately preventing workplace accidents and injuries.

PURPOSE OF THE ASSOCIATION

Although the MSIA is not a lobbying organization, it still exists to capitalize on the collective interests of employers to promote and protect the welfare of its members. As a member, you will benefit from:

- 1 Recognition of matters relevant to the ongoing viability of self-insurance, and communication about employer interests related to preserving a safeguard for the concept of self-insurance.
- 2 Receiving information regarding current law and its administration.
- 3 Sharing employer interests and dialogue regarding legislative matters and developing case law.
- 4 Communication and cooperation with regulatory authorities.
- 5 Educational events, materials and services.

HOW WOULD MEMBERSHIP HELP YOUR COMPANY?

Problems with workers' compensation are seldom unique to a company. Membership provides access to specialists and professionals in the field and an opportunity to exchange ideas with people from other companies who have problems similar to yours. The MSIA holds two conferences each year which offer great opportunities to learn about significant workers' compensation issues and network with a variety of stakeholders. Furthermore, the organization conducts roundtable meetings that are only available to self-insured employers, public entities, large deductible businesses, and group self-insured members. The roundtable sessions are free to attend, offer employer representatives with similar interests to share ideas, and include short presentations relevant to the administration of workers' compensation. In addition to developing useful contacts throughout the workers' compensation industry, benefits of membership include access to our job board, educational and service links.

MEMBER BENEFITS

Benefits of membership with the MSIA include access to our job board, service links and education links. You also will benefit from timely information on law changes or court decisions which will affect your company's workers' compensation program. Our self-insured, large deductible, public entity, and self-insured group employer members also receive free attendance to our semi-annual member roundtable meetings. Roundtable locations vary throughout the state and include a presentation as well as the opportunity to network with other professionals that share similar interests.

ASSOCIATION ACTIVITIES

- Providing up to date, valuable information on current issues and activities related to self-insured employers on our website at www.michselfinsurers.org.
- Two annual conferences, including a two-day Spring Conference.
- Educational seminars and training programs.
- Filing amicus curiae briefs with appellate courts on cases of significance to members.
